PRELIMINARY EGOTISM.

In presenting to the public our second biennial Akion City Directory, we do so believing that it will be found as complete as it is possible to make a work of its kind. Notwithstanding the fact that omissions and errors may be discovered, we claim for the work an accuracy and neatness seldom exhibited in a City Directory. We have aimed to make our work a fit representative of the public spirit and importance of the city of Akion, and an accurate and complete guide to all public places, business locations, and private residences of the inhabitants of the city. The Business Directory contains a classified list of all trades, professions and pursuits in the city alphabetically arranged, thus exhibiting at a glance the special business of each citizen. The miscellaneous department contains much information useful to both citizen and stranger. As the architect, after long, anxious labor, views with satisfaction the completion of a pet task he has worked early and late to accomplish, and, amid the assembled crowd gathered to gaze upon the work of his genius, he stands waiting for something more—their approbation and applause—to him the test of his success, so the publishers of this volume, after long weeks of earnest endeavor to make a work satisfactory to themselves and acceptable to the public, now send it forth conscientiously completed on their part. Yet they await a larger judgment and appreciation of their efforts—the favor and approbation of their patrons. If this be granted, it will nerve them to make still greater trials, with renewed effort to still further please. While thanking the business community for the generous patronage given us, and the "Press" for their favorable notices, we desire to express our intention of issuing the Akion City Directory biennially, with the promise that it shall be as complete as it is possible to make it.

AKRON.

AKRON, a thriving enterprising city of seventeen thousand inhabitants, is the capital of Summit County. It is built on the highest ground in Northern Ohio, being 496 feet above Lake Erie, and 1,065 feet above the Atlantic Ocean.

When the city was laid out, in 1835, and awaiting a christening, Charles Olcott, who was a graduate of Yale College, and a Greek scholar, suggested the name AKRON, which is a Greek word, signifying a peak or Summit, which was at once adopted.

The ground on which it stands was purchased from the Indians at a treaty, held at Fort McIntosh, where Beaver, in Pennsylvania, now stands, in 1785, by which the Cuyahoga River, the Portage Path, and Tuscarawas River were fixed upon as the Western boundary of the United States. This boundary was confirmed by the treaty of Fort Greenville in 1795.

The Portage Path, which is the Western boundary of Akron, was thus fixed by treaty with the Indians, as the Western boundary of the United States, and so remained until the treaty of Fort Industry, where Sandusky City now is, in 1805, when the Indians ceded their lands West of the Cuyahoga and Portage Path, to the United States. Thus, for twenty years, the ground on which Akron stands, was the extreme limit of the United States, separated from hostile tribes of Indians of unknown numbers, with a territory extending to the Pacific Ocean, by an Indian trail.

That Path is of historic interest, as it was the great highway of nations for unknown centuries before America was known to the civilized world. This Path commenced at the head of canoe navigation on the Cuyahoga at what is called Old Portage, and then followed the high lands, or ridges, to the head waters of canoe navigation on the Tuscarawas, a distance of about nine miles.

Akron was situated in Portage township, originally, though it now embraces parts of Tallmadge and Springfield townships.

The first settlers in Portage township, within what is now Akron, were Major Mintz Spicer, Amos Spicer, Paul and Barnabas Williams Major Spicer came from Groton, New London County, Connecticut, in 1810, and located his land about half way between the original limits of Akron and what was then Middlebury, (now the Sixth ward of Akron,) in what is now the Fourth ward

In 1811 Major Spicer and Amos Spicer, Paul Williams and Barnabas Williams moved into the township—Major Spicer on to the land he selected the year before, and Paul and Barnabas Williams located a little west, on what is Exchange street in Akron, a little west of Buchtel College

The first settler in what is now Akron, but was then a part of Tallmadge township, was Captain Joseph Hart, who was born in Connecticut, and bred a sailor. He followed a sea-faring life—sailing from New Haven, and he became captain of a ship. In 1799 he was captured by a French cruiser, and with his ship and crew taken to France. On his liberation and return to the United States, he quit the Ocean, and removed to Ohio. In 1807 he purchased 54 acres of land that now constitutes a considerable portion of the Sixth ward of Akron. On the 6th of August, 1808, Eliza Hart, a daughter of Joseph Hart, and now the widow of Roswell Kent, was born, being the first white child born in what is now Akron.

In 1818, what is now the Sixth ward of Akron was laid out into a village, called Middlebury. For a while it seemed destined to become one of the leading villages of the Reserve. In October, 1825, a newspaper was started here called "The Portage Journal." As Akron had "no local habitation nor a home," nor a name, nor an existence, Middlebury was the resort of the enterprising business men, who were bidders and contractors on the Ohio Canal. So great was the business at that time that there were no less than sixteen stores, including groceries, in the village. Mills, factories, and mechanical shops sprung into existence as if by magic.

In September, 1825, ground was broken for the canal, a little north of what is now Lock 1, in Akron, it having been broken at Lacking Summit on the 4th of July previously.

Immediately, on the location of the canal, General Simon Perkins and Paul Williams laid out Akron, and platted it and recorded it as a village. In what was then the recorded plat, there were but two families—Paul and Barnabas Williams. In 1832 there were 600 inhabitants, in 1840 there were 1632, in 1870 there were 10,253, in 1875 there were 17,000.

In 1827, Akron had become a "Port," and Woolsey Wells, Attorney-at-Law, Justice of the Peace, and Postmaster, was appointed Collector of the Port of Akron. On the 4th of July, 1827, the first canal boat cleared from Akron to Cleveland, causing great rejoicing as it moved off at the rate of three miles an hour through the Portage and Northampton hills.

Akron is celebrated for her mechanical enterprise. To enumerate her manufactories would require far more room than we have to spare. With her six flouring mills, each of which can turn out 300 barrels of the best of flour a day, her machine shops, that give employment to nearly 1000 men, her Forge, Rolling Mill and her Paper Mill, Match Factory, Rubber Works and Diamond Fire-brick, her oat and barley hullers, and other mechanical establishments, would require a volume to enumerate. With its immense water power, and the aid of the Cleveland, Mt Vernon & Columbus and the Atlantic & Great Western Railroads, that pass through and cross each other in this city, with the wealth and enterprise of its citizens, and its unexampled increase of population, Akron has a bright future. But its crowning glory is its educational and literary history. Between twenty and thirty papers have been published in this city. The first was "The Akron Weekly Post," by Madison H. White, the first number of which was issued March 19, 1836. "Akron Journal," by C. Bryan, "The Era," by Jonathan P. Fenn, "The American Balance," by Smith & Galloway, "The Buzzard" by Jedidiah Brownbread, "Glad Tidings," by Whitney, Davis & Doolittle, "The Flower of the West," by Allison & Rummix, "The Pestalognian," by S. L. Sawtell, "The Cascade Roarer," by S. A. Lane, "Summit Beacon," by H. Bowen, "The Flail," by I. L. Howard, "The American Democrat," by H. Canfield, "The Casket," "Free Soil Platform," "Akron Eagle," "Free Democrat," "True Kindred," "Akron Offering," "Free Democratic Standard," "The Sockdolager," "The Whip," "The School Mistress," "The Akron City Times," "The Germania," and "The Argus."

But the crowning glory of her educational history is that where originated "The Akron School Law," and by the munificence of John R. Buchtel, and others, is erected and endowed "Buchtel College"—an honor to the city, and a lasting monument of the liberality of its founders.

By the fires of June and September, 1848, December 1849, and February 1851, the business part of ancient Akron was laid in ruins, but, like the Phoenix, she has arisen from the ashes reinvigorated, rejuvenated, and beautified.

THE NEW BUCKEYE MOWER.

This New Model BUCKEYE MOWER is the Strongest, Neatest and Best Light Mower made. It has all the good qualities which have made the BUCKEYE for twenty years, the Farmer's Favorite. It has a Tilting Lever, to raise and lower the points of the guards. Has a Wrought-Iron Steel-Faced Guard, and a Three-inch Cutting Section, and the Best Knives money can make. It has no Side Draft and no weight on the horses' necks. It is all Iron and Steel, except the Tongue: runs very light and does the best of work. It is especially adapted for rough and boggy ground. It is a Front-Cut, and therefore perfectly safe for the Driver.

SELF-OPERATING SWING

IS SOMETHING ENTIRELY NEW, IN THE LINE OF SWINGS

It is made entirely of First-Class Material, and is substantially put together, with metal fastenings, making it very Strong and Durable.

It is Suspended by Flexible Hangings, which can be adjusted so as to place the swing in any position the swinger may desire.

The Hangings are attached to the Swing by a LOCK SNAP, by means of which the swing can be taken down or put up in a very few moments.

It is operated by a Slight Pressure of the Feet upon the foot-rest, which gives motion to the Swing - and when once in motion, so little exertion is required to operate it that any person can sit and swing for hours at a time without becoming fatigued.

The Back and Foot Rests operate Under the Seat in the form of a Hinge, so that the operation is as easy as sitting in a rocking chair.

We are Manufacturing Two Sizes,
And finishing them in THREE STYLES, making an assortment of six swings.
