Home of S. Samuel Miller, founder of Mohawk Rubber Company

from West Hill Sketch Book published by the West Hill Land Company, ca. 1905
How old is my house? Who built it? Who lived here? How did this neighborhood develop? How can I restore and renovate my house? These are some of the questions new or established homeowners may have about their homes. Researching the history of your house can provide answers to these questions, and may possibly reveal other interesting facts about the house you live in. There are a number of resources at the library and in our community that can assist with your quest for clues and answers to your home’s history. This pathfinder includes a selected list of resources that may be found at the Akron-Summit County Public Library, as well as other institutions in our community. For assistance with any of these resources, or help finding additional information, please visit our website www.akronlibrary.org/specialcollections or contact the Special Collections Division at Main Library. 330-643-9030 speccollections@akronlibrary.org

RESEARCHING THE HISTORY OF YOUR HOUSE: SOURCES AT THE AKRON-SUMMIT COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY SPECIAL COLLECTIONS DIVISION

City Directories
City directories are an excellent source for learning more about the people who lived in your house. City directories, usually published annually, are divided into two primary sections. The resident section includes an alphabetical listing of people living in a community and lists head of the household, place of employment and/or occupation, and name of spouse. Some early directories may include the names of children. City directories can help to approximate the year a house was built. The address section is arranged alphabetically by the name of the street, and lists residents by address. City directories may also provide clues to the ethnic makeup of a neighborhood. A scan of street listings may reveal that most residents were of a particular ethnic or cultural group. One caveat of city directory research is that street numbering systems often changed during the early part of the twentieth century.

Akron City Directories
1859-present (including most years for Cuyahoga Falls and Barberton)
Akron City Directories for the years 1859-1969 are also available in a digital format and may be browsed or searched via the Library’s website from the following link:
www.akronlibrary.org/specialcollections

Biography File
In these files may be found copies of newspaper articles about local individuals that have appeared in the Akron Beacon Journal and other publications. It is arranged alphabetically.

Obituaries
Obituaries can be a valuable source of biographical information about local residents. Special Collections holds the Akron Beacon Journal on microfilm from 1841 to the present, as well as indexes to obituaries for the following years:
- 1841-1913 On catalog cards
- 1937-present Akron Beacon Journal Obituary Index
Also available online:
www.akronlibrary.org/specialcollections
In addition, the library participates in the Hayes Research Library’s Ohio Obituary index, http://index.rbhayes.org/hayes/index/, a statewide index to obituaries published in newspapers throughout the State of Ohio, including the Akron Beacon Journal and its predecessor papers.

Ohio Death Certificates, 1908-1953
Biographical information included on death certificates typically includes birth date, occupation, place of birth, parents’ names and place of birth, and cause of death. Digital images of these records may be searched and viewed online through Family Search: https://familysearch.org/search/collection/1307272

County and City Histories
In the late 19th century, many county histories were published. These books frequently included biographical sketches about members of a community. Special Collections has an extensive collection of city and county histories for Summit, as well as other counties in Ohio, and other states. Additional full text city and county histories are available through the Library’s subscription to the database Heritage Quest Online which may be accessed from any Akron-Summit County Public Library agency, or from your home computer via the Library’s website, www.akronlibrary.org. Some may also be found on Google Books, http://books.google.com/ and Archive.org, https://archive.org.

Family Histories
Special Collections owns a large collection of published family histories. Check the online catalog or consult with a Special Collections staff member for more information about this collection.
Estate Records
Estate records can provide valuable information about former house owners. Special Collections has Summit County Probate Court estate records on microfilm for the years 1841-1944.

Census
Since 1790, the United States has taken a census of its citizens. Prior to the 1850 census, only the name of the head of household was listed. Beginning in 1850, the census listed every individual in each household, and, depending upon the year of the census, much additional information about its residents. The Library has access to these records through subscriptions to the online databases Ancestry Library Edition, Heritage Quest and World Vital Records. www.akronlibrary.org.

Land and Property Records
Special Collections has the following resources that may be helpful to house researchers:
- Summit County grantee and grantor indexes, 1840-1914
- Index to grantors, Trumbull, Portage, Medina and Stark Counties, 1795-1840

Atlases, Plat Books and Maps
Special Collections maintains a collection of 19th and 20th century Summit County maps and historical atlases. See a Special Collections staff member for more information about this collection, or visit our Summit Memory Project Online Map Room to view many of these resources: http://www.summitmemory.org/cdm/onlinemaproom
Sanborn Fire Insurance Maps, 1867-1970
These detailed maps, produced by the D.A. Sanborn Company, depict commercial and residential sections of cities in the United States. Each map indicates the site, size and shape, building material, and use of homes, commercial buildings and factories. Sanborn maps for Ohio are accessible from the Library’s Research Databases page: http://www.akronlibrary.org/. Special Collections also has these maps on microfilm for the city of Akron and some communities in Summit County.

Other Genealogical and Local Historical Sources in Special Collections
Special Collections maintains many other genealogical and local history resources in multiple formats that may provide additional information about former homeowners. Our Local History Database, www.akronlibrary.org/specialcollections includes records for many items in our collections, including photographs. In addition, Summit Memory, www.SummitMemory.org includes thousands of digital images of Summit County, including many of local houses. For further assistance, check with a Special Collections staff member, or visit the Special Collections website at: www.akronlibrary.org/specialcollections.

The University of Akron Archival Services collects, preserves, and provides access to primary and secondary source materials that document the history of the University of Akron and the region. It is also a local government records repository for a nine-county region that includes Summit and Portage counties.

Among its diverse holdings are Auditor’s/Treasurer’s Tax Duplicates from Summit County dating from 1840 to 1940 and Portage County dating from 1812 to 1953. These documents are useful in researching the history of a house as they include valuations of real and personal property and sometimes show additions of new structures.

Archival Services is open to the public Monday through Friday from 8 am to 5 pm.

Architectural Style
Architectural styles vary greatly among American cities and neighborhoods. A number of factors contribute to this. In Akron, for example, many homes in Goodyear Heights are of the English cottage architectural style. The reason for this is that F.A. Seiberling, the founder of Goodyear and developer of Goodyear Heights had a preference for that style. The Library has many resources that can help you determine the style of your home.
